

Privacy Policy

When you take your first photo with CheezyCam, we ask you for access to your photo library so we can save your photos. Photo data is extremely sensitive, and we believe it's important for you to know and understand what we do with that data.

At CheezyCam, we firmly believe that your data belongs to you. As such, CheezyCam does not collect, store, or share any images, or data that can be used to identify or contact a specific individual. We do not have advertisers, nor do we require an account to use CheezyCam. All information that we do collect is usage and analytics data that is anonymized, generic, and used to help us improve the quality of CheezyCam. We never upload your photos.

APP ANALYTICS

We use Google Firebase & App Store Connect to help improve the app. Both provide us with anonymized and generic usage data that we use to inform our product decisions and understand how people are using CheezyCam.
